

Jewish Cemetery “ Frechie Stichting “ at Putte - Noord Brabant.

Jewish Cemetery FRECHIE STICHTING at PUTTE -

adres: Putsesteenweg 36
Putte- Noord Brabant
4645 RJ Nederland.
Ruime parkeergelegenheid
Free entrance
Men with a hat

The last care for the defunct, the accompaniment to his last restplace, the eternal burial place and the donation of a tombstone are very important laws in the Jewish Faith.

A fact is getting to ones last restplace is costing money. Misery and poverty are eventually worsening even more the big gloom. This is why Henrie Frechie had the idea to found a burial society where all jewish families could affiliate when paying a monthly fee. So the families won't have to pay anything anymore when losing a dear one.

The Antwerp Jewish Burial Society was founded March the 16th 1884 in Putte (Noord Brabant)This happened in the Netherlands where burial-grounds are eternal.

The defunct, following jewish laws, shouldn't be troubled in his last rest.

The Frechie Foundation remains almost the only non profit making jewish burial society. The aim of the foundation is to offer to all its jewish affiliated members a ritual burial .

Henri Frechie, founder of the the Antwerp Jewish Burial Society “ Frechie Stichting “, born in Antwerp on September the 12th 1845, was a sigar producer; He became later a innkeeper and translator. He died in Amsterdam on April the 11th 1932 and was buried in Putte.

organisation:
tel. 00 32 478 449 264
choem@telenet.be with the help of

and the support of

